The Boishevik revolution, on the contrary, attempted to destroy all rights and property of this nature and has deprived American citizens and business houses of lawful privileges, pursuant to which large investments had been made and industrial operations of great benefit to Russia had been long carried on. No compensation has been made Americans for the annulment of their rights, neither is such compensation included in the policy of the Soviet Government. "In the opinion of this chamber reestablishment of patent law in Russia and the restoration of rights thereunder exist-Finance Markets.

The former Secretary of Commerce said in part:

"This chamber, organized for the protection and promotion of American commerce with Russia, having had heretofore the privilege of suggestions to your department steps for protecting American holders of Russian bonds and those American citizens and business houses that have suffered losses through the seizure of their property by the Soviet Government without compensation, now places before you another phase of American interests in Russia.

The home market, through want of buying and carrying capacity, remains restricted, but outside orders are again coming in. The higher value of the mark and higher world market prices again permit the Germans to undersell foreign manufacturers in wool, cotton and leather goods. Modification of German industries continues. The Rhine Metallic Works and Machine Company and also the Wolf Works and the Treven Rolling Mills are forming a combine, and and also the Wolf Works and the Treven Rolling Mills are forming a combine, and the steel combines and coal and iron in-terests are reported to be investing heav-ily in ship building shares again. The industrial outlook has improved this last month. Unemployment has decreased slightly owing to the resumption of building. The Rhenish coal and iron industries have received heavy home and foreign orders, owing to the Upper Sile-
